

Young generation - innovative in design and functionality

The new CASCO helmet for the young generation looks refreshingly different. It moves on from conventional forms and puts a round compact helmet design into play instead. The CASCO design team accentuates the curved edges of the Young Generation by fashionable high-contrast colours and also ensures functionally moments of surprise. You can replace the standard helmet shield in a blink of an eye by an optionally available panoramic visor. The visor comes in optical class 1 which is the best available lens quality and provides a frame-free unrestricted visibility without lateral distortions. Another highlight: eyeglass wearers can use their normal glasses under the visor. Typical for CASCO, the Young Generation convinces with a very high wearing comfort and a compact helmet form which covers the head far down to the back of the head to achieve extra safety (accident researchers estimate that 20% of all fatal head injuries are in the area behind the ear).
